Professional Summary

My name is Iurii Basov. I am actively considering Data Architect and Tech Lead opportunities with strong backend ownership. I have 10+ years in IT, started as a Java/Scala developer, then moved into ML/AI and platform engineering, and later led ML platform direction in enterprise environments. I typically work as a player-coach: hands-on in architecture and delivery, while mentoring engineers and aligning technical plans with business outcomes.

Selected Experience

Lead Software Engineer / ML Platform Lead — Sberbank (Apr 2020 - Mar 2025, Moscow)

Led platform initiatives for ML and data-intensive products; coordinated engineering delivery, reliability improvements, and cross-team execution.

Acted as a playing coach for data and backend engineers; improved architecture quality, delivery discipline, and production support practices.

Software Developer / Lead MLOps & Data Engineer — Upwork Projects (Apr 2013 - Aug 2025)

Built resilient cloud-based data platforms with streaming and batch pipelines across banking, e-commerce, logistics, and ad-tech domains.

Delivered systems using Airflow, PostgreSQL, Kafka, Spark, NiFi, Hadoop, S3, and Java ecosystem services; mentored engineers and coordinated vendors.

Improved measurable outcomes: lower latency, better model accuracy, stronger chatbot engagement, faster backend response, and higher concurrent throughput.

Leadership & Collaboration

Playing coach mindset: hands-on delivery + team mentoring + stakeholder communication.

Strong in translating technical complexity into business value and execution plans.

Team culture focused: I value trust, ownership, and high-quality engineering rituals.

Education

Moscow State University — MS in Calculus Mathematics (2001-2006)

Additional Notes for Recruiters

Open to Senior Java Engineer / Staff-level backend roles, as well as Tech Lead tracks with clear ownership scope and measurable goals.
