Dear Hiring Team,

My name is Iurii Basov, and I am actively considering senior backend and technical leadership opportunities. I bring 10+ years of IT experience, from Java/Scala development to platform engineering and leadership in enterprise environments.

My core hard skills include backend TypeScript-oriented service design, distributed systems architecture, API development, transaction routing and settlement-style workflow design, reliability and incident response engineering, architecture reviews, and production-quality coding practices. I am experienced in high-load systems and cross-functional delivery where scalability, security, and speed all matter.

I work as a playing coach: I stay hands-on in coding while mentoring teams, driving technical decisions, and ensuring execution against business goals. I am comfortable in startup-paced environments with high ownership and minimal bureaucracy.

I would be glad to discuss how my background can help your team build scalable global payment infrastructure.

Best regards,

Iurii Basov
